

"National Education Policy 2010"

Bangladesh's strategy for educational reform and development is outlined in the important ~~importance~~ "National Education Policy 2010" which acknowledges education as a key component of national advancement and a crucial tool for reducing poverty. This approach is the result of a historical period in which shifting political conditions frequently caused earlier education plans to be abandoned or handled insufficiently.

The strategy expresses the desire for significant reform in the education system with a renewed emphasis on transformative educational techniques.

The policy's primary goals are to uphold human values and create a knowledge-based

Society that can prosper in the contemporary world. It highlights the need for inclusive and equitable education, guaranteeing that all individuals, irrespective of socioeconomic status, have access to high-quality educational opportunities. The objective "National Education Policy 2010" is a comprehensive framework aimed at building a well-educated, skilled and culturally enriched population, positioning Bangladesh for improved educational standards and national progress.